

READER'S THEATER

Steel Eyes by Jonny Zucker

Characters: Emma
Gary
Tanya
Gail
Narrator

Genre: Fantasy

Ages: 10-15

Steel Eyes page 1

- Narrator: Time: A dark December day.
Setting: A high school hallway.
On Monday morning, a new girl arrived at Gary's school. She was wearing jeans, black boots, and a blue ski jacket. She was also wearing sunglasses . . .
- Emma: Hi, I'm Emma Stone.
- Gary: I'm Gary Roper.
- Emma: Is there any place around here where I can get a soda?
- Gary: There's a vending machine near the music room.
- Tanya: Hey.
- Narrator: They had only walked a few steps when Emma felt a tap on her shoulder.
- Tanya: I said "hey," new girl. What's with the sunglasses?
- Narrator: It was two of the mean girls at school.
- Gail: Get rid of them. Or do you think they make you look cool?
- Emma: And you are?
- Tanya: No one talks to me like that.
- Narrator: Tanya scowled.
- Gail: I thought we told you to take them off.
- Emma: If I took them off, you'd regret it. So I'd forget about it if I were you.
- Gail: Well, you'll be told to take them off.
- Tanya: No one's allowed to wear sunglasses inside this dump.

Steel Eyes page 2

Narrator:

And with that, Tanya and Gail walked off.

Gary (quietly to himself):

Hmm. I wonder why she wears those dark glasses. There must be something wrong with her eyes.

Narrator:

Gary's right. There is something wrong with Emma's eyes. Something terribly wrong. Read further in this gripping tale and watch the final, astounding encounter between Emma and the bad girls.

Tanya:

All we want to know is why you never take off your sunglasses.

Gail:

Tell us and we'll leave you alone.

Emma:

You wouldn't understand.

Tanya:

Either you tell us, or we'll find out for ourselves!

THE END