

IMPORTANCE OF READING ALLOUD WITH YOUR CHILD

Research shows that reading aloud to children gives them a head start on language and literacy skills, as well as provides support in the relationship between parent and child.

Keep it going!

There is a drop in parents reading aloud after age 5. It's still important to read aloud to children in the early elementary levels.

(Washington Post)

85%

85% of children who are read aloud to say it is a special time with their parent. 92% of parents say it is a special time with their child.

(Scholastic)

Expand

Kids' auditory comprehension is higher than their reading comprehension.

Exposing them to more challenging books expands their vocabulary.

(Brightly)

73%

73% of parents reported reading aloud to their child before their first birthday.

(Scholastic)

7 Days

62% of parents with kids ages 3-5 read aloud 5-7 days a week.

(Washington Post)

Foster

Children will associate books with pleasure which fosters a lifelong love of reading.

(Read Aloud 15 Minutes)

LEARNING IS FOR EVERYONE!